

SALEM'S RELIEF FUND DEPLETED; MORE EXPECTED

$200 Remains of Total Of $1,184 Received During Month

NEW ALLOCATION IS EXPECTED SOON

Relief Roster Is Boosted As Result of Cold Weather

Salem's two allocations of state funds totaling $1,184 for direct relief purposes during January are practically exhausted, city officials said today.

Mrs. Winifred Hill, city relief supervisor, said that only about $200 remained and that direct relief orders being compiled by her today would deplete the fund.

Expect New Allocation

The new appropriation of state funds through the county offices in Salem probably will be made within a few days, she said. Mrs. Hill said that in the meantime orders are being written for the relief clients.

During January an appropriation of $1,184 was received from the county, followed later by an additional $150. The county's distribution of relief funds to Salem is about a small grant to Perry township, was made possible by a $40,000 allocation to Columbiana county from the state on request of county commissioners.

An increase of about 30 clients added Salem's relief roster within a recent week, Mrs. Hill said today. About 100 individuals and families now are being cared for by the city. Last month's relief figure was set at 70.

Cold Weather Boosts Relief

Inclement weather was given as one cause of the relief client gain since WPA jobs have been delayed by the cold snap.

In October the relief case load in Salem was as high as 130 families, reports show.

Ten women have been given emergency sewing work in a central sewing project here, supervised by Mrs. Catherine Davis. The sewing rooms are maintained on South Broadway, one of six similar WPA undertakings in Columbiana county.

New Frigid Blast To Hit Ohio Today

A new frigid blast headed toward Ohio today.

The weather bureau said temperatures, which crept into the 20's yesterday—highest of the week—would tumble rapidly, especially in the south portion.

Mercury marks near or below zero with continued cold weather Friday was the forecast.

The bitterest January weather in a half-century, descending on Ohio a week ago, has caused directly or indirectly at least 50 deaths and untold suffering.

Dog's Bark Awakens Man Periled by Fire

NEGLEY, Jan. 30.—Fire, believed caused by an overheated furnace, destroyed the six-room bungalow home of Samuel By, son of the late County Commissioner Frank By, on the Peace Valley road, two miles northwest of here, Tuesday night. The loss was estimated at $5,000 partially covered by insurance.

By, alone in the house, was aroused from sleep by the barking of a dog.

Witness Points Out Killer of Liggett

MINNEAPOLIS, Jan. 30.—The long, skinny arm of the prosecution's star witness, Wesley Andersch, pointed an accusing finger at Isaac Blumefeld in district court today as the machine gun killer of Walter Liggett, militant weekly newspaper publisher.

Blumefeld, at the behest of his counsel, Thomas McKeekin, stood up while the identification was made.

FARMERS FACE CHALLENGE IN RULING ON AAA

Find New Solution, Urges L. J. Taber In Talk at Columbus

DOES NOT KILL EQUALITY CHANCE

Grange Chief Tells Agriculture To Revise Its Methods

(By Associated Press)

COLUMBUS, Jan. 30.—Louis J. Taber, master of the national grange, pictured today the supreme court's decision against the late agricultural adjustment administration as a challenge to agriculture to find a new solution for its problems.

Speaking before a Farmers' week group at Ohio State university, Taber said the decision "did not kill the farmer's right to secure equality or to better conditions. It only turned 'thumbs down' on the legislation employed to bring this about," he asserted.

Need "Modern Weapons"

"Neither our highest tribunal nor the court of public opinion can deny to the American farmer a fair share of the nation's income. Agriculture, however, must be prepared to use modern machinery and to fight with modern weapons to gain and hold its place in national progress."

Taber described the court decision as a severe blow to agriculture which "has been accepted in a remarkable spirit of self-restraint."

"Rural people," he said, "whether favoring or opposing the three A's, whether happy or disappointed over the court's decision, have gone forward, determined to find a new solution to the problems that confront rural life."

Ten-Point Program

He said it is time for farmers to turn "toward a constructive, fighting outlook for red-blooded farmers. The grange, in its 10-point program, has opened a way."

The 10-point program, announced by the executive committee of the grange two weeks ago, calls for completion of AAA contracts, a soil and wild life conservation program, expansion of the surplus commodity corporation and expansion of farmer-owned and farmer-controlled co-operatives. It also asks for protection of American markets for farmers and for expansion of farm product consumption.

Taber pictured the farm problem as "economic and not political." He denounced "bureaucracy and politics" in farm legislation, asking that the farm program be kept in the hands of the farmers themselves.

He said that national recovery and farm prosperity go hand in hand.

"Restore and maintain farm-purchasing power," he said, "and national recovery is inevitable."

The other two dances will be at the Old Homestead on Vine st., and at Annie Vaca's on South Broadway.

Seventy per cent of the proceeds at all three places will be turned over to the Salem Rotary club for its work in caring for crippled children.

OPEN BUSINESS CHECK IN AREA

53 Enumerators To Make Eighteenth District Survey

William Levinson of Steubenville, supervisor of the census of business, has begun enumeration work in Columbiana county. He said 53 enumerators will make the canvass in the 18th district, which includes Harrison, Jefferson, Belmont, Carroll and Columbiana counties.

Offices of the census have been established in City Annex Bldg., Steubenville, and a staff of four persons has been employed to handle the work. All census employees are bound by oath not to reveal any information contained on business reports and the law makes any violation a criminal offense.

Complete Canvass

Levinson states that every retail and wholesale business, all hotels, places of amusement, business service companies, insurance agencies, real estate offices, and trucking and bus companies; all banks, office building managers and contractors will be canvassed for reports on their operations during the calendar year 1935. The results are to be tabulated in Philadelphia, headquarters of the business census, and become the basic statistics which businesses use in planning their operating policies.

Supervisor Levinson explained this census has been extended considerably beyond the limitations of the census of distribution for 1929, and the census of American business for 1933, as a result of business requests that all fields of business be included.

"It is designed," he said, "to supply a definite answer to the question of how many concerns there are in business, the total volume of annual business, and the total payroll and employment. More than 100 representatives, delegated by various business associations in each field to be covered, met with census officials and formulated the questions to be asked."

Retail trade will be divided into two size classifications: Stores with total sales of $50,000 and over, and

FRENCH CHIEF THROWS IN LOT WITH BRITAIN

Cooperation Is Essential Peace Guarantee, Premier Says

SARRAUT SPEAKS TO PARLIAMENT

Also Promises to Act Toward Reducing Unemployment

(By Associated Press)

PARIS, Jan. 30.—Premier Albert Sarraut today threw in his lot with Great Britain declaring that France is the essential guarantee of the peace of Europe.

In a seven-minute ministerial declaration read to parliament, the premier admitted his main task was to assure "impartial elections," but he promised to try to reduce unemployment, encourage trade, and protect the gold franc in the struggle toward "a happier tomorrow."

Gold Withdrawn

Even as he spoke, the Bank of France announced the withdrawal of another billion francs about $67,000,000 in gold from its vaults during the week that the government of former Premier Laval was falling.

"The financial situation," declares Sarraut, "imperiously demands our attention to dissipate the menacing catastrophe and to defend the franc's stability."

The premier promised the continuance of the "collective security" policy in the League of Nations and pledged himself to do everything to facilitate and hasten within the league the settlement of the Italo-Ethiopian conflict and the cessation of the cruel hostilities.

About 90 workers attended the meeting.

Lisbon Experiences Gasoline Price War

LISBON, Jan. 30.—A gasoline "war" opened here today with prices at some stations dropping as low as 15 cents a gallon for 82¢ that previously was selling at 19¢ cents.

The "war" is believed the result of competition between two stations located opposite each other on the Lincoln highway in town.

The majority of the stations are selling gas for 17¢ cents a gallon, two cents lower than the retail price yesterday.

Officials Check Municipal Budget

Salem's municipal budget for 1936 was checked over at a conference of the city council finance committee and the budget committee of Columbiana county Wednesday night in Lisbon.

Members of the council finance committee and City Auditor Karl Webster attended the meeting.

Treasury Official Addresses Miners

WASHINGTON, Jan. 30.—Miss Josephine Roche, assistant secretary of the treasury, told the United Mine Workers' convention today the fight against the social security program in the name of "liberty" was a "travesty on justice."

"It brings to mind," she said, "the words of that great French woman, Madame Roland, on the steps of the guillotine: 'Oh, liberty, what crimes are committed in thy name!'"

"Unless there is economic security for the great mass as well as for the few, then our liberty is little less than a mockery."

Gov. Alf M. Landon Assails Political Wasters; Col. Knox Calls On Business To Fight

TAXES FLAYED BY PUBLISHER

Advocates Program For Revealing Hidden Tax Charges

CLEVELAND, Jan. 30.—Col. Frank Knox, Chicago publisher and a possibility for the Republican presidential nomination, last night urged business, as a public trust, to "stand up and fight," instead of complaining.

He said the New Deal administration had "stolen the election" and the Democratic party under which to hide its own Socialist skeleton.

"No Sham Battle"

He advocated a widespread program for revealing hidden taxes, asserting "this is no sham battle these new dealers are putting up. The prize they covet is to run American affairs to suit themselves."

Addressing 1,200 Republicans of northern Ohio at the 33rd annual McKinley day banquet of the Tippecanoe club, Col. Knox declared business, by reason of its wide stock ownership, "has a case that is unbeatable—if it chooses to stand up and fight."

"Let business go to the people and tell them the amount of taxes that have to be paid in order that this same public may be served," he said. "Tell to employees the story of taxes. Show them that if it were not for the increasing tax burdens imposed by this present administration that better wages could be paid."

"Situation Unparalleled"

He said "open defiance of the constitution," the "abject servility by a majority of senators and congressmen," and attempts to discredit the supreme court had brought a situation unparalleled in America "since the days of the Civil war."

Col. Knox promised his full support to whoever won the party nomination at the June convention here.

"I'll be behind the man until the last gun is fired," he said. "I don't care who wins the nomination. This is no time for the exploitation of self ambitions."

A letter here by the American Legion post said both Roch and Pach were seriously ill in a hospital at Paramaribo, Dutch Guiana. Roch was reported to have malaria and Pach black water fever.

It was Roch who first brought to the outside world a definite story that Redfern, who disappeared eight years ago on a flight from Brunswick Ga., was still alive but crippled in the wilds of the Venezuelan-Braslian frontier.

ITALY'S ARMY FEARS ATTACK

Mussolini's War Cabinet Votes Three New Measures Today

By ROY P. PORTER

Associated Press Staff Writer

Italy's cabinet voted approval to three new war measures today as an Italian column along the southern Ethiopian front was reported threatened by rear flank attacks after a penetrating drive deep into the Wadara region.

Requisition Supplies

At Rome the Italian ministers moved swiftly to requisition wool for military supplies, register the physical status and military training of all citizens and revise organization of internal defense units.

The Ethiopian government reported at Addis Ababa Gen. Rudolfo Graziani's troops were retreating toward Neghelli after an engagement with defending forces.

The Fascist commander feared an attack, the government declared, after Ethiopian patrols began moving in from the west. Fifteen thousand Italian native troops were reported in the dangerous position. The Ethiopian war office said, while 15,000 other white soldiers were safely encamped 40 miles south-east of Neghelli.

From Addis Ababa came an official report of Ethiopian victory when 19 sharpshooters from the ranks of General Shale surprised a Fascist detachment, killed 35 Italian soldiers and seized four motor trucks.

Gas Seyoum, native chieftain on the northern front, declared an Italian plane had been shot down during bombardment of the city of Addis Ababa Jan. 20, and its three occupants killed in the crash.

Trade Class Group Elects at Meeting

The Elmulden society, a Salem Trades class group, met at Twelfth inn last night for a business and social evening.

Libburn coffee was elected president of the club and Dudley Ashhead was re-elected secretary-treasurer. Galen Weaver is retiring president.

Short talks were given by trades class instructors, Holland Cameron, Elmer Kerr, Ralph Perrine and Robert Chandler. Plans for the year's activities were outlined by the president. The club's purpose is primarily social, the president pointed out, but was formed also so that members might assist each other in trades class work.

The remainder of the evening was spent playing bridge and "500."

New Sebring Bank Proposal Studied

SEBRING, Jan. 30.—Business Men's association members here today were considering the organization of a new bank supported by a board of Sebring citizens, following a meeting with Arthur Lane, formerly of the state banking department.

Lane said most large banks are closing branches, instead of opening new ones, and suggested the organization of a new institution rather than attempting a reorganization. The association is seeking added information before adopting a definite program.

Tax Rate Jumps

SEBRING, Jan. 30.—The Sebring tax rate has been increased from 17.4 mills to 22.4 mills. This was announced following a hearing given the village by the county budget commission, in session this week at the county court house.

KANSAS CHIEF HITS NEW DEAL

Finds Flaws In Undertakings of Roosevelt Administration

(By Associated Press)

TOPEKA, Kas., Jan. 30.—Gov. Alf M. Landon decried "political waste of the new deal" as stumbling blocks to recovery last night while cheering Kansas Republicans halted him as their party's "logical" presidential nominee.

In his first public analysis of national issues the Kansas governor found flaws in almost every undertaking of the Roosevelt administration.

Silent On Campaign

But he remained silent on the presidential campaign launched in his behalf yesterday.

The address climaxed a "Kansas day" rally in which state Republicans adopted resolutions virtually projecting him into the G. O. P. presidential picture. It was broadcast nationally.

"The clinching proof of the new deal's failure is that almost as many persons are out of work today as there were when it first set up shop," he told an applauding audience of 2,300.

"The administration has presented no permanent solution of our major problems."

"I greatly appreciate the expression of those who know me best," he said of a two-fold maneuver by supporters to put him up for the presidential nomination.

The Republican state central committee endorsed him—making certain 18 Landon votes at the Cleveland convention—and the Kansas Day club broke a 45-year-old tradition against political endorsements by pledging itself to Landon as a candidate.

The governor, alternating his views of the nation's problems with critical barbs at the present administration, charged the "new deal" with "delaying the return of prosperity," and condemned "half-baked legislation, mal-administration and the dangerous shortcuts to permanent change attempted in the name of emergency."

"Consider Good Points"

He urged Republicans to go into the next campaign willing to concede "the good points of

SEN. BORAH COMES THROUGH

Sen. Borah during 29 years in the U. S. senate has built his reputation on two outstanding abilities. He is capable of being independent and he has surpassing skill as an orator.

Next June 29 the senator will be 71 years old, but advancing age does not seem to have driven before it either his independence or his command of the public speaker's art. He still comes through in the pinches. In Brooklyn, N. Y., Tuesday night he made it plain he is a candidate for the presidency. That was not news, because he has been acting like a presidential candidate for many weeks.

But in his Brooklyn speech, besides asserting his independence, he made what probably was the keenest observation in the current exchange of political pleasantries. In a few words he described the real reason for the sympathetic attention Alfred E. Smith has been getting from men and women who were fighting him tooth and nail only a few years ago. "Last Saturday night," said Sen. Borah, "I listened to the most eloquent and the most pathetic funeral oration that I have ever heard. It was your brilliant and distinguished ex-governor speaking over the dead body of the Chicago platform. Nothing like it since Marc Anthony stood over the body of Julius Caesar. And as the adroit orator drew back the shroud from the dead platform and pointed to the numerous wounds inflicted by those whom he called traitors, you could hear the anti-Roosevelt Democrats and the regular Republicans cheering to the echo. How they do love an insurgent when he is in the other party."

It comes to mind in this connection that Sen. Borah himself has many admirers who may love him for the same reason.

CAUSE AND EFFECT

The newest restatement of the law of cause and effect . . . "You push the first valve down," etc . . . is giving the country an unobtrusive object lesson. Take automobile output, for instance.

It used to be the custom to "push the first valve down" at the beginning of each year. The music came out the next spring, in the form of a rush to be on wheels for warm weather.

Unfortunately, a sour note came out toward the end of the year, when the public, with its eye on the new models, quit buying old models. The automobile industry agreed that the resultant extravagances and inefficiencies of seasonal production were disagreeable.

So they pushed the second valve down by deciding to introduce new models in November. The music came out in the form of a rush to buy new automobiles. But now manufacturers and dealers are wondering whether a sufficient amount of music will come out in the spring to keep them happy.

They are wondering, also, about used cars. Last fall's new models caused dealers to accumulate an abnormally large stock of used cars, and it isn't easy to sell used cars in the winter. Furthermore, liberalization of terms on new cars has cut into the used car market.

Automobile output for January will be slightly less than in December and November. A further decrease is expected in February, but March is expected to end the slump when spring buying starts. An interesting experiment has been undertaken to adjust automobile production to the theory that it is desirable for new models of automobiles to be introduced each year. The first valve and the second valve have been pushed down. Music has come out at the proper place, but not all the notes have been sweet. Probably in the course of time the effect of pushing down some third valve will be tried. This is an age of experimentation.

THE STARS SAY

For Friday, January 31.

A day of intriguing and surprising conditions is read from the lunar and mutual aspects. This sign makes it profitable to deal with mergers, rings, secret societies or by methods of intrigue, conspiracy or stratagem. A very lively and enterprising day in this connection is forecast. Sign all writings with precaution. In social, domestic or romantic affairs, there will be much liveliness and jollification. Influential friends figure conspicuously in the affairs.

Those whose birthday it is may be prepared for a year of intrigue and surprise, with profitable connections with mergers, combines or secret bodies, or through measures of subtlety and secret understandings. A very lively year is presaged, but in all writings use caution.

A child born on this day may be sensitive, emotional, artistic and fond of unusual pursuits or mysterious adventures.

NEW YORK DAY BY DAY

NEW YORK, Jan. 30.—That strictly Broadway strip between the Circle and Herald Square is the incubating ground for a pattern type of worthless citizenry. The phoney diffusing a bright-eyed charm so often marking indolence. In his conceit he is convinced he has out-smarted his fellows.

They have to work he doesn't. He sleeps most the day and appears in a well barbered glow for breakfast in the late afternoon. Oddly enough, he is rarely a boozier. His lingo has the studied cliché of vaudeville. His prototype lives in the fiction of Damon Runyon.

Most of them are skilled in the art of self-mockery, a sure defense against ridicule. I have known at least a dozen and frankly for a half hour or so their companionship is a lot of fun. One knows instinctively the truth is not in them, yet always they amuse.

The law never touches because their pillaging is so petty. There are women, with whom they are never seen in public, who provide what they call "walking around money." And there are invariably small tricks they can turn, a fiver here and a tenner there. Sponges need little to expand.

Floyd Gibbons, willing away between-battle tediums on the Ethiopian front, is working on another making-life-easier innovation. No. 1 was a buttonless shirt, the cuffs being in solid circle and the tie holding the collar and very short vent down the bosom. No. 2 is to be a collapsible and neatly folding pith helmet. Only those who have journeyed to tropical countries know the horrors of trying to pack the standardized model. Gibbons' Christmas greeting cards were mailed from Jerusalem.

Another of the town's indefatigable party hurlers is Ted Saucier, who sounds the publicity tom toms for the Waldorf and a dozen other institutions catering food and drink. A cuisinier taught many tricks by apple-cheeked Oscar himself, he likes to fill his bachelor chambers with jovial spirits, don the white apron, coat and funneled cap of the chef. In a way it's a gesture in self torture. For Saucier, a true gourmet, has been on a strict diet several years.

In the past two months I have seen two striking victims of the New York pace. Both talented girls that it fell to my lot to exploit when a theatrical press agent. They were young, beautiful and vibrant with dewy freshness and each became a name in the theatrical world after our paths crossed so briefly. New talent came along and over a space of ten years their celebrity gradually faded. Both had married several times. Today they are blowzy, hard bitten women with gin hawks to their voices, over-painted, over-dressed and over emphasizing their tiny hour of fame. It was incredible that little more than a decade could exact such a toll. I left each in slight shudder.

Ed Sullivan seems the only columnist to click theatrically among those braving the footlights. He has played several return engagements at one of the largest Broadway motion picture houses and last time hung up a record matching that of Jack Dempsey in the flush of his championship, an all-time high for the house. He has the dazzling facility of Irish talk but without flippancy and perhaps in that quality lies much of his appeal. There is a definite hardness among audiences these days toward that arrogant assumption by actors they are the last word. Genius no longer has to declare itself. The trend is to meekness in every endeavor.

Thingumabobs: Harold Bell Wright is a favorite author of Halle Selassie . . . Nathan Burkan, who inherited Luchow's, is Charlie Chaplin's lawyer and closest confidant . . . Amon Carter, Pt. Worth editor, as a hobby grows the biggest pecans in America . . . Charles MacArthur's idea of fun is to leave dainty lingerie around the house for Helen Hayes to find after she has been away on a trip . . . Jack Dempsey now smokes a dozen black cigars a day.

From a Cosmopolitan story: "It was a breakfast he loved. Wet hash flicked with green peppers on a crisp cross of crisp bacon, poached eggs in golden shimmer, smothered fried potatoes, crab apple jelly, thin toast and a goblet of milk with just that proper chill."

A Review of the Day's News

By Arthur Brisbane

BEHIND THE gray walls of Windsor Castle, on the hill above the 23rd school, where young England learns discipline and cricket, King George's coffin was lowered into the vault to rest beside his father, King Edward VII, and his grandmother, Queen Victoria.

The magnificent crown of England was taken from the coffin before it disappeared and placed before the altar. Kings go, the crown remains.

THE SERVICES were broadcast, new feature of a royal funeral; the simple Church of England burial service read by the Archbishop of Canterbury was heard far over the earth, wherever Britain's 400,000,000 subjects live.

It was heard near the gold and diamond mines in South Africa, beside the holy Ganges, with its floating corpses, in India; heard in Australia, around, under the earth, and by the intelligent Canadians that, with their great North American empire, may some day be the real "England."

The body of the mild King was carried from Westminster Hall on a gun carriage, drawn by sailors. This ended, picturesquely, one chapter in England's history.

VETERANS, having successfully climbed the long, long road, the government yesterday began the biggest "pay off" job in history, the printing of two billion four hundred million dollars' worth of bonds to be distributed among 3,518,191 World War veterans. The mere distribution cost alone will be seven million dollars.

Now, government wonders what new taxes can be invented to pay the two and one-half billions.

INTERESTING news from Ethiopia sent by an American correspondent says the residence of Haile Selassie's son on the roof of a large red cross, although it has nothing to do with the Red Cross.

Associated Press sends news of a Swedish "field hospital" captured by Italians in the south. Carrying ammunition on five trucks adorned with Red Cross flags and insignia. The "field hospital" automobiles contained, in addition 27 cases of munitions.

In modern war the safe plan seems to be bomb everything. The war drums of the Ethiopian hero, Ras Desta Demtu, were captured. He will miss them.

ALL FIVE walk, all have gained weight during the past month, and have new teeth. Annette has three new ones, twelve in all. All have beautiful big eyes, high foreheads, pretty faces and look as French as the Marseillaise, get plenty of oxygen, but wrap up well.

Health In Childhood

Not so long ago I told you about the decrease in infant mortality. I pointed out that the baby today has a far better chance of surviving the first year of life, than the baby had 25 years ago.

Today, I want to speak about some of the ways of keeping the young child well.

A child may be backward in his school work, not because of mental deficiency, but because of some physical defect.

Enlarged and diseased tonsils and adenoids may retard the progress of the school child. One with poor sight or hearing is unable to compete with his schoolmates. In consequence the child is uninterested in his studies. He is discouraged and may become delinquent.

It is amazing to see the improvement, mental and physical that takes place when the physical defect is corrected. The child no longer appears dull. He learns faster and certainly is a lot happier.

Many parents fail to realize what will happen to a child who cannot keep up with his school work. This is the penalty of being repeatedly absent from school. Chronic coughs, colds, sore throats and the infections of childhood serve as stumbling blocks to the child's welfare.

Current Defects

The time to take the youngster to the physician is before real illness appears. A thorough physical examination should be made. If there is any defect it should be corrected. School conditions promote the dangers of communicable diseases. Of course, every child should be vaccinated against smallpox and immunized against diphtheria. If you live in a section where typhoid is prevalent, it is advisable to have inoculations to prevent that.

Within recent years many children have been safeguarded against whooping cough and scarlet fever by the use of special vaccines. Consult with your doctor if there is an outbreak of these diseases in your community. The same advice applies to other communicable diseases, such as measles and chicken pox.

It should be the rule to take the child to the doctor for a complete physical checkup twice a year. Very often minor defects will be detected which, if allowed to persist, would become more serious with the passage of time.

Dr. Copeland is glad to answer inquiries from readers who send addressed stamped envelopes with their questions. All inquiries should be addressed to him in care of this newspaper.

"HIGH SCHOOL TRAGEDY"

by MAXINE CANTY

SYNOPSIS

Julie Martin, she's all of 17, is relating what happened after her French teacher, pretty Constance (Connie) Sinclair, was found shot dead at a desk in her (Miss Sinclair's) apartment. Julie has started her own newspaper and interests her father and her boy friend, Dicky Ward, had visited the apartment the previous afternoon, a few hours before the murder. She had returned a fountain pen which she had borrowed from Miss Sinclair. Newspaper reports make known that the teacher was slain about 10 o'clock that night. The police went to the apartment upon receipt of a mysterious telephone call informing them that Miss Sinclair had been slain. Miss Sinclair had been slain. Julie's young brother, Allen, also a high school pupil, leaves the breakfast table soon after the family starts discussing the strange news. Classes did not resume to much that day. Julie, an assistant after hours in Principal Perkins' office, is summoned to him to meet Police Inspector O'Brien who is beginning the investigation. This is Julie's account of their interview:

The boys kidded Melvin about having a crush on the teacher, until he blackened Jack Gibson's eye one day . . .

CHAPTER II
Inspector O'Brien was rather awfully gentle and quite unafraid of me. He asked me to sit down. Mr. Perkins coughed nervously. He said, "I'm sorry, Julie, but you must go through this. I don't suppose any students would be questioned."
Every angle is worth investigating in a case like this," said Mr. O'Brien pleasantly.
"I don't mind," I hastened to assure him.
He smiled. "Suppose you tell us you know about Miss Sinclair," the Inspector suggested. He took a paper from his pocket, a piece of writing paper in pale green covered with fine web-like lines in black ink. It was very penmanship, almost like engraving. Somehow it seemed familiar.
"I believe you visited Miss Sinclair with a friend about 4:30 yesterday afternoon," he stated, consulting the paper. This time I saw the signature, Anna Sardon. It was evidently a signed statement from her.
"Yes," I said, and then I told him about the pen, blushing a little in front of Mr. Perkins. He didn't seem to be listening. So I went on without much embarrassment.
"You returned the pen to her?"
"Yes, sir, Dicky—Richard Ward and I met Miss Sinclair on the steps of the apartment house and we all went in together."

"Did Miss Sinclair unlock the apartment house door?"
"No, nor the one to her apartment either."
The Inspector made a note. "Rather strange," he commented. "She said the apartment door was always open. There are only four apartments, and whoever comes in at 11:00 o'clock at night turns the latch on. After that she said one had to have a key."
"Easy then for anyone to enter," said Mr. Perkins.
"Well—" I hesitated.
"Yes?" prompted the Inspector.
"Not so easy, at least it wasn't for us."
"Why not?"
"Because Mrs. Sardon popped out her door as we were going up the stairs. She scared me. Miss Sinclair laughed and said that she always did that. She said she was used to it now, but that it bothered her at first. I guess that is the way an apartment house manager has to do to know what is going on."
The Inspector smiled, but Mr. Perkins just looked out of the window. I thought I'd better hurry on to the important things.
"Miss Sinclair said, too, that she herself had always lived in a house, and that she could never remember sort of waded it when she told Miss Saxon she had letters to write."

"Then perhaps the pen will lead us to the murderer?"
And did I shudder later when I recalled that remark? You're asking me!

"One other thing. Do you remember any more conversation that might interest us?"
"No-o," I answered slowly, thinking hard.
"What else did you talk about?"
"We talked about a book she was reading from the Book Shop; they rent books out, you know. It was a biography of the man who wrote Moby Dick."

"Herman Melville," said Mr. Perkins. "I found that book on her desk this morning. If you don't want it, Inspector, I'll return it to the Shop."
"No, I don't believe it would be of any use to us. Well, Miss Julie, I guess that's all. You have been very helpful, and I may need you again. Now, if Melvin Wright is waiting outside, send him in, will you?"
"Yes, sir. Goodbye. Do call me if I can help any more."

As I went through the door, Inspector O'Brien said to Mr. Perkins, "This Wright boy was the caller who left last night at 8:30."

I told Melvin to go in, but I shuddered when he passed me. Could he have killed anyone? I knew the story of his relation to Miss Sinclair, as did everyone else in school. He was a mess to begin with, rather good-looking, but considering himself a hard guy, as Dicky calls it, and always in trouble. Miss Sinclair was sympathetic. Most of the teachers had the policy of setting their lips when Melvin entered class, keeping on the alert, and starting things first; I mean they hopped on him at the slightest thing he did or said, and kicked him out on any pretext, glad to be rid of him. Miss Sinclair was different. She had lots of patience; she talked to him, and she tried to reform him.

He behaved pretty well in her class, and all the boys kidded him about having a crush on her, until he blackened Jack Gibson's eye. Then she found out he had stolen some money from another teacher's desk, and had spent it on some girl down town. She reported him, and after that he seemed to hate her as much as he had adored her. He was on probation now, and Miss Sinclair had to sign his parole blank each week.

As he opened the door, Mr. Perkins was saying, "O'Brien, this chap Wright is the school's problem boy. I'll admit. He has caused every teacher here a lot of trouble at one time or another, but I hardly think he would go so far as to shoot one of them."

Melvin stood in the doorway. As the principal finished speaking, he laughed that hard, sniggering laugh of his.

"No, I've felt like it often enough, but I didn't do this job."

I have never heard a harder more rasping voice than the Inspector's suddenly became. He said: "Young man, this is no time for your wise-cracking. Close the door!"

LET KIDNEYS FLUSH OUT 3 LBS. A DAY

Clean Out 15 Miles of Kidney Tubes

Nature put over 15 miles of tiny tubes and filters in your kidneys to strain the waste matter out of the blood. Kidneys should pass 3 pints a day and so get rid of more than 3 pounds of waste matter.

When the passing of water is scanty, with smarting and burning, the 15 miles of kidney tubes may need flushing out. This danger signal may be the beginning of nagging backache, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes and dizziness.

If kidneys don't empty 3 pints a day and so get rid of more than 3 pounds of waste matter, your body may take up some of these poisons causing serious trouble. Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, which have been used successfully by millions of people for over 40 years. They give happy relief and help the kidneys to flush out 3 pounds a day. Insist on Doan's Pills.

High School Hi Tri Members Must Maintain Average of B

Academic Achievements One of Chief Features of Group

"Vocations and Avocations"—that is the motto of the Hi Tri club girls organization at Salem High school.

Vocations—that is interpreted as what the club members plan to do when they graduate from High school.

Avocations—at the present time knitting, the girls' occasional occupation in club meetings and sparetime. Right now, they're all in the midst of sweaters.

Formed In 1929

The Hi Tri was organized at Salem High in the fall of 1929 by Miss Anna Oelschlaeger, former girls' physical education instructor, and Miss Mildred Horwell, language teacher. An exclusive club (the members selected by vote) when first organized, the Hi Tri, now accepts to membership any girl in her junior or senior year at the High school who maintains a "B" scholastic average.

Modeled somewhat after the Hi Y boys' Y. M. C. A. organization formerly at the High school but now disbanded, the purpose of the Hi Tri is to promote friendship and good spirit among the girls in the school.

Charity is another of the club's activities. Each year at Christmas time, the members make up Christmas baskets and give them to needy families chosen by the Red Cross.

Miss Horwell, one of the organizers, and Miss Martha McCready are advisors for the club. They act only as supervisors, however, since the club has the following officers who take charge at meetings and conduct the activities: President, Lois Dilworth; vice president, Betty Ruth Lewis; secretary, Marion Theiss; treasurer, Evelyn Crawford. Fifty-five girls belong to the club.

Although there is a national Hi Tri organization, a subsidiary of the Girl Reserves, the Salem High school club is not affiliated with it. High membership fees prohibit the club from membership in the national organization.

SAFETY RECORD AT CLEVELAND

Lake City Has Lowest Fatality
Percentage Among Eight
Major Cities

(By Associated Press)
WASHINGTON, Jan. 30.—Cleveland showed the best safety record in 1935 among Ohio's eight major cities, while Columbus had the poorest showing.
Figures prepared by the census bureau showed 28.5 fatalities per 100,000 for the Lake city, while the state capital topped the list with 39.6.
Reports for the 52 weeks ending
Jan. 18 this year showed only Columbus and Youngstown had increases in fatalities as compared to the 52 weeks ending Jan. 19, 1935.
Canton's death toll dropped from 36.3 to 37.6 per 100,000.
The records indicate the safest period for driving is the four weeks ending April 15, while the most hazardous in point of fatalities is that ending Dec. 22.

Northeastern District To Send Five Quintets To State Finals

Massillon, Alliance Tangle in Only Big Six Game This Week

Salem Faces Warren in One of the Most Attractive Of Six Non-League Contests Listed For Teams in the N. E. O. Loop

The Northeastern Ohio Big Six league's recently crowned basketball champion, Massillon High school, will participate in the only contest scheduled in the league this week when it faces Alliance High's Aviators at Alliance Friday night.

While only the one loop game is carded for the weekend, six non-league games will be played, the most attractive of these being Salem's tussle with Warren and Barberton's engagement with Akron West.

Other games are: Niles at East Liverpool and East Palestine at Struthers on Friday night, and Akron, St. Vincents at Massillon and Girard at Struthers on Saturday night.

Defeated in its past seven contests, Alliance will attempt to break a losing streak besides avenging an early season set back when it takes on the champion Massillon Tigers.

Tiger's Fifth Victory
Massillon won its fifth victory in the Big Six and gained the league championship by triumphing over Salem, 29 to 16, in its only game last week. Alliance, who has lost all four of its league games was edged out by the strong Dover quintet, 31 to 27, last week.

The Aviators met the Tigers in their first engagement this season, 24 to 13.

On the short end of the score in both of its contests, last week Salem is perhaps stacked up against one of the strongest teams of the district in its duel with Coach Pierre Hill's Warren cagers at the Salem High school gym Friday.

Warren proved its ability on the court last week by downing Struthers and Niles, both Big Six league teams of better-than-average class.

Although they have registered six victories in eight games to date, Akron West can hardly hope for a victory at the expense of Barberton Friday night, since it lost three of its regular cagers by mid-year graduation. Barberton, strengthened by the return of Ulysses Miller, who was ineligible during the first semester, will be seeking its tenth victory. The Magics have been defeated but once this season.

Faces Stiff Test
After losing Harkins, who closed his scholastic career last week, Struthers will be put to a stiff test by the undefeated East Palestine Bulldogs in a contest at Struthers Friday night. The Bulldogs won out over Salem and Sebring last week to continue unbeaten, while Struthers went down to defeat before Warren and Youngstown Rayens.

Niles, hurt by the loss of Dean Rees at mid-year, runs into a crack quintet, in its meeting with the East-Liverpool Potters. The Potters have failed in only one game this season, while Niles is now in the midst of a five game losing streak. East Liverpool downed the previously undefeated Toronto High five and Steubenville in games last week.

In the two contests billed for Saturday night, Massillon will probably run into play of trouble against Akron St. Vincent's while Struthers, if defeated by East Palestine Friday night, should come back and trim Girard.

Standings of the league and the season's record of all teams follow:

W	L	Pts	Opp	Pct.
Massillon	5	0	124 90	100%
Barberton	3	1	105 92	75%
Struthers	1	1	54 72	50%
Salem	1	2	61 72	33%

Barberton	8	1	274 116	90%
Massillon	8	1	379 159	88%

Salem	4	5	214 237	44%

HITCHCOCK OUT OF POLO EVENT

Will Not Participate in English Competition Next Summer

NEW YORK, Jan. 30.—Tommy Hitchcock, Jr. has declared himself out of the International (Westchester Cup) polo competition in England next summer, making room for California to be represented again by Eric Pedley.

As it's a man's prerogative just as much as a woman's to change his mind, the United States Polo association would gladly welcome the Long Island veteran as a last-minute addition should be suddenly discover he can spare two months from his brokerage business.

Business Pressing
Hitchcock gave the pressure of business as his reason for withdrawing. When he was selected last month along with Winston Guest, Michael Phipps, E. Bridge Gerry, Stewart Isherhart and William Post, 2nd, Hitchcock told the association he was not decided on making the trip. Post declined the invitation immediately.

Forced out of competition after two serious falls, Hitchcock returned to the sport last year and made an amazing comeback which sent him soaring again to the world's highest ranking—a handicap of 10 goals.

MAJOR LEAGUE FIRST BASEMEN ARE UNCHANGED

Majority of First Sackers Will Be Back at Old Berths

BY ALAN GOULD, Associated Press Sports Editor
NEW YORK, Jan. 30.—Despite the obvious hazards of the job, first base seems to breed "iron men" in baseball.

For that reason, among others, comparatively few changes will be made among the major league guardians of the No. 1 sack for the 1936 pennant races.

Fourteen Back
Fourteen of the 16 players who held forth as regulars last season will be back at the same stand, barring accidents or some unexpected developments in training camps. This includes Jimmie Fox, the Maryland Mauler, who began the 1935 season behind the bat at Connie Mack's request, subsequently returned to his regular job at first and who now has shifted his allegiance to the Boston Red Sox.

Fox will replace Ellsworth (Babe) Dahlgren, the flashy fielder from the Coast league. Meanwhile the A's have a choice of Jim Oglesby, drafted from Los Angeles, or Lou Finney, a utility outfielder for the first base job.

The Cincinnati Reds contemplate the only change among National league first basemen. George McQuinn, top fielding first sacker of the International league with Newark last year but only a 238 hitter, is slated to replace the veteran Jim Bottomley.

Two managers who started the 1935 season at first base, Charley Grimm of the Chicago Cubs and Rogers Hornsby of the St. Louis Browns, have no idea of repeating the trick. Grimm yielded quickly to the brilliant youngster, Phil Cavaretta. Hornsby will be satisfied to let Irving (Jack) Burns resume as regular first sacker.

Playing Pilot
Another playing pilot, Bill Terry of the Giants, talked loudly about retiring to the dugout but his 340 batting mark and record as the league's top fielding first baseman leaves him no alternative unless, as he fears, he "breaks down."

The Giants tried to pry Jim Collins away from the St. Louis Cardinals but there's no chance of "jarring Jim" leaving unless Johnny Mize shows sensational development.

The iron horse of the New York Yankees, Lou Gehrig, hasn't missed a game since June 1, 1925, and he doesn't anticipate yelling for help around first base this year.

Big Hank Greenberg of Detroit, the American league's most valuable player last year, Joe Kuhel of the Washington Senators, Zeke Bonura of the Chicago White Sox and Hal Trosky of the Cleveland Indians are other first base fixtures in the American league.

New Bowling Alleys Open To City Keglers Saturday

Grate Recreation Parlor, Containing Six Alleys, Is Completed; Ladies' Lounge Is One of Outstanding Features

Bowling balls will soon be rolling "down and around" the runways at the newly constructed Grate Recreation alleys at 721 South Ellsworth ave.

Climaxing a month of construction in which more than 35 men have worked day and night, Salem's newest bowling alleys, constructed above the Grate Motor Co. garage will open to the public Saturday night, according to the announcement made today by E. L. Grate, owner and manager of the recreation parlor.

Six Alleys
Finished in brown Masonite with green-colored extended beams, the bowling parlor, built as a second story addition to the garage, contains six well-finished alleys, complete with Backus automatic pin-setters and suspended lights.

The alleys also are equipped with neon lights which may be flashed on by a referee when a bowler fails to observe the foul line. The foul lights will only be used during match games.

Although a wide variety of balls will be available to the bowlers, a number of them have been made especially for some of Salem's ardent enthusiasts of the game. Grate personally measured many of the city's keggers so that the finger holes in the new balls would meet their desires and prevent them from facing the difficulty of finding balls that would fit their hands each time they bowled.

Built-in Lockers
A gallery to seat fans and keggers is located directly behind the six alleys, while near the entrance of the parlor is a refreshment stand. Built into the rear of the gallery is a row of lockers where bowlers may leave their shoes and privately owned balls.

One of the outstanding features of the parlor is the ladies' lounge. This room, partitioned from the rest of the parlor and decorated the same except for draperies over the windows, will contain upholstered furniture and will be open to women who visit the alleys to bowl or witness matches.

The alleys were built to the specifications of the American Bowling Congress and will be sanctioned by this governing body of recognized bowling activity.

Special Match Saturday
All pins used on the alleys will be new and of league regulation size and weight.

To inaugurate the alleys Saturday night, Mayor George Harhoff, one of Salem's better bowlers, will roll a special match with Chief of Police Stouffer. This contest is scheduled for 7 p. m. Various prizes will also be given on the opening night.

The alleys will be open every day of the week, including Sunday. Special matches may be scheduled by making arrangements at the parlor.

Youth Wins Amateur Billiard Tournament

NEW YORK, Jan. 30.—Youth, in the person of Edward Charles Rogers, of Glenn Cove, N. Y., reigned over the amateur pocket billiard world today.

Rogers, only 24 years old and competing in the first major tournament, wrested the national championship from 37-year-old J. Howard Shoemaker, the defending champion, last night by winning the deciding match of the title tourney 125 to 42 in 18 innings.

COLUMBIANS WIN LEAGUE CONTEST

Returns to Victory Column by Downing Fleetwing Five, 35 to 17

Blasted from the undefeated ranks on Tuesday, the Columbian cagers returned to the win column at the Memorial building last night by soundly trouncing the Fleetwing quintet, 35 to 17, in a Class A league contest.

The defeat was the fifth suffered by the Fleetwing five who occupy the cellar position in the league.

Taking the lead during the first period, the Fleetwings were unable to maintain their advantage and by halftime they trailed the Columbians one-point, 8 to 7.

Unleashing a heavy barrage of scores the Columbians went far out in front, 24 to 10, during the third quarter and then continued in the final period with their free scoring to gain the victory.

Scoring honors for the Columbians were well divided.

NEW SET-UP OF OHIO HARWOOD TOURNEYS MADE

16 Teams Will Compete in Class A Finals at Columbus

COLUMBUS, Jan. 30.—H. B. Townsend, Ohio's commissioner of High school athletics, said that the new method of staging the county sectional district and state basketball tournaments was ready to go into operation.

The High school athletic commission disclosed the sites of the various district tournaments, and how many teams each will send to Columbus for the state classics in which Class "A" and 16 "B" quintets will participate. For years only eight teams in each division took part in the state event.

Get Lion's Share
The Northeastern and Northwestern districts get the lion's share of the state event.

Salem High school's basketball team will compete in the sectional tournament at Youngstown. The winner of this tourney will go to Akron for the district finals.

entries under the new set-up. The Northeastern section gets five of the 16 Class "A" representatives, and three of the 16 Class "B" while the Northwestern area is awarded four in each division.

That allotment leaves seven Class "A" and nine Class "B" teams divided among the other four districts. One team is sent to the state tourney for each 12 in the district.

The Northeastern district is filled with teams that regional events will be held to decide which shall take part in the district tourney at Akron. The Class "A" regionals will be held March 5-7 at Akron, Cleveland, General and Youngstown, and the Class "B" events the same day at Clearview, Kent, McDonald, Orange and West.

The Class "B" district meet will be held at Kent, March 12-14, the same dates as the Class "A" event at Akron. Ten teams will compete at Akron, and a dozen at Kent.

those with sales of less than $50,000. Commodity data will be sought from the larger group and from all wholesale establishments including exporters, importers and limited function wholesalers.

Includes Finance
For the first time, Mr. Levinson announced, the census includes banking and finance for the entire range of commercial, agricultural and mortgage and personal credit finance as well as security brokers and dealers.

Construction, including building, highway and heavy construction by contractors is included again, as in 1929. General contractors, operative builders and sub-contractors are to be covered.

Highway and street transportation, including trucking for hire and bus operations are included in the census for the first time. Commercial warehousing is included in the comprehensive plans announced today.

A census of the business of operating office, commercial and other non-residential buildings will be made in cities of more than 10,000. For the first time the operations of insurance companies, agents and brokers, real estate brokers and dealers, management and rental agents as well as the business aspects of non-profit associations and organizations of every type, (exclusive of religious bodies) are included in the census.

Extend Service Census
The census of service establishments, which in 1933 included only personal, business and mechanical repair services, is extended in the plans to include certain classes of professionally-trained persons. Mr. Levinson explained these include advertising, counselors, architects, auditors, certified public accountants, engineering services, private detective agencies, market research services, map drawing and cartography services, and sales consultants. Theaters and hotels are to be covered as in 1929 and 1933, he said.

Mr. Levinson declared the present census is in answer to the request of business for dependable information for sounder planning of expansion programs, and is a continuation of the similar business censuses of 1929 and 1933.

Theater Attractions

Gladys Swarthout and John Boles, who are the stars of "Rose of the Rancho," to be shown at the State theater Friday and Saturday.

Gladys Swarthout, known as the "baby of the Metropolitan opera," makes her screen debut in "Rose of the Rancho" at the State theater Friday and Saturday. Acclaimed to a great deal more weight on the opera stars who come to Hollywood to make pictures, the town was surprised to see Miss Swarthout a slim, lovely looking young woman. She keeps this way without any of the usual Hollywood diet and rigid exercises.

John Boles Co-Stars
John Boles co-stars with the singing star of opera and radio. Others in the cast are Willie Howard, Charles Bickford, H. B. Warner, Herb Williams and Grace Bradley.

The story is historical and deals with the old town of Monterey in 1832, two years after California was admitted to the Union. In that day Monterey was the center of life for the Spaniards who had huge ranches under verbal grant from their king. With California a part of the United States, land-grabbers came into the territory intent on getting the estates in any way.

Miss Swarthout plays the daughter of one of Monterey's richest Spanish land owners. John Boles portrays a secret agent sent into the state by the Federal government. Boles comes into a seething country. The land grabbers are led by Charles Bickford and they stop at nothing to further their aims. The Spaniards organize their own band and ride at night to the attack, led by a certain "Don Carlos" who travels like the wind on a white horse.

Rescues Bickford
Boles, upon his arrival, rescues the leader of the land-grabbers, Bickford and soon finds himself involved with both sides and in love with the beautiful "Rose of the Rancho," Miss Swarthout. With the opera star, heard on the screen

Unable to Meet
The Southeastern district board has been unable to meet because of heavy snows, to decide which counties shall send teams to Chillicothe and Portsmouth, and there's an argument in the Southwestern district, but otherwise the tournament set-up is all clear, Townsend said.

The Southwestern area scrap was caused by protests from Middletown, Hamilton and Springfield over being forced to play at Dayton. The teams object to performance in the Dayton Coliseum, which boasts one of the largest playing courts in the state. A search is being conducted for a court on which the teams can agree. Townsend said.
